

Council Reports Its Activities

Following is the monthly report from the Mayor and members of the Seaside Council in review of activities since September 1, 1971 by the Chamber of Commerce.

QUESTIONNAIRE

To obtain opinions on a number of subjects, we circulated a questionnaire to most of the persons and firms holding business licenses in Seaside. (A copy of the questionnaire is attached to this report, with numerical tabulation of the results to date).

The council report showed in the space allowed for comments that -- a number of respondents entered remarks and some were: "Make Seaside a safer place to shop"... "the sign ordinance for business is too hard"... "clean up sidewalks that are only partially complete in business areas"... "have a 'clean-up' paint up day" or week"... "we need a bus connect for Fort Ord residents with businesses in Seaside" several commented that light industry is needed to provide employ-

PERSONAL VISITS

Members of the staff have started a program of visiting every business firm and others in the city (whether Chamber members or not). To date, more than 60 have been visited. Many were critical of the chamber programs and/or needs. All expressed pleasure at being visited.

The council reported the program will continue and a detailed summary of the results will be furnished with the next report to the council.

CHAMBER FINANCE

As agreed, the Chamber directors have reviewed the schedule of dues for membership, and have adopted a new fee schedule based on the business license fees. The new schedule will apply to new members, and will apply to current members at renewal times.

FUTURE PLANS

The staff is working on a draft of a new promotional brochure and will be working with city staff on the project (which it is contemplated will include a new map) Chamber headquarters is to be repaired by director volunteers, and the sign on the front of chamber building is being re-furnished.

Following is the voting ratio of the questionnaire to obtain opinions:

1. Should the Chamber take an active role in trying to obtain hospital facilities in the city of Seaside? 41 voted yes and 23 no.
2. Should there be a monthly "shoppers' night" in Seaside, with all business remaining open until 9 or 9:30? 49 voted yes and 12 no.
3. If such a plan were adopted, would your firm participate? 41 voted yes and 20 no.
4. Should Seaside merchants again as a group stage a "military shopper" night occasionally with special discounts to military families? 30 voted yes and 27 no.
5. Are you in favor of continuing the fourth of July parade? 39 voted yes and 24 no.
6. Putting aside your own opinion, do you think your customers or patrons favor continuing the parade? 40 yes and 14 no.
7. Should the Chamber of Commerce start and operate a "better business bureau" type of activity? 52 voted yes and 11 no.
8. Should the Chamber of Commerce take the initiative to get a local bus system started in Seaside? 37 yes and 24 no.

New Art Show At City Hall

During the month of October, the Seaside Art Commission will present a one-man show by Barbara West with work by Photo Troop 70 in the display cases at Seaside City Hall.

Barbara West came to painting via a career in the theater in London. She ran a small theater known as London's Littlest Theater and performed with Sybil Thorn-dike and Lawrence Oliver. She also taught and directed at the Theatre Arts Colony and the San Francisco Municipal Theatre.

Barbara studied painting in Vancouver with Frederick Varley of the famous Canadian Group of Seven and in San Francisco with Doug Kingman. She has won awards for her religious paintings and now specializes in portraiture. She is a member of the Carmel Art Association.

Irene Alexander of the Herald once said of Barbara West: "...one who preeminently deserves the title, 'artist'." She has exhibited with success in this area, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Vancouver.

Barbara now runs her own gallery-studio at Carmel's Sunset Cultural Center, painting full time.

This exhibit may be seen Monday through Friday from 8 until 5.

Publisher's Report

Seaside Ripples

A. E. "Andy" Barragan, Publisher

I saw a cartoon in the paper the other day in which the character concluded, "the more I know of others, the more I like myself." The caption, naturally, was supposed to be funny and, in a way, I suppose it was. But the more I thought about it, the more serious the entire subject became. We were all brought up in a society which said that if you like yourself you are an egotist. So, ipso-facto, you tried not to show that you liked yourself. As a matter of fact, many of us grew up hating ourselves. Of course, if you hated yourself enough, you developed all kinds of neuroses. If these were bad enough, parents or someone would insist on your getting "counseling" or going to a psychiatrist. Then the "counselor" would tell you that the trouble with you was that you didn't like yourself. Well, you knew that, but what were you to do about it? Most of the time the psychiatrist couldn't tell you much more than that you should convince yourself that you were a really fine person and that when you convinced yourself of that fact, then everyone around you would realize that you were a fine person and begin liking you too. After that your neuroses would disappear.

We are not born "not liking ourselves." As a matter of fact, if you just watch small children at play, it is obvious that they are infatuated with themselves. They don't have a care

Circus to Benefit Council

Rated by the Better Business Bureau as top-notch, the DeWayne Bros. Circus will appear at the Monterey County Fairgrounds Monday, October 11. The circus, which BBB says is one of the top four on the West Coast, will present two benefit performances for the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Council.

Proceeds from the two shows, which are scheduled for 4:30 and 8 p.m., will be used in the council's senior citizen and youth programs. This nostalgia of this old-fashioned circus under the "Big Top" is combined with modern day know-how and thoroughly polished performances. It is truly a treat for children of all ages.

One of the more remaining tented circuses, the DeWayne Bros. Circus features animals galore, hilarious clowns, acrobats, aerialists, disciplined canine cuties, jugglers, spectacular trampoline and teeterboard artists, plus many other thrilling circus acts.

The circus will make three other stops in the county to benefit the anti-poverty council.

Tickets may be obtained from participating local businessmen and at the gates before each performance.

Offers Course

The new evening institute will offer an investigation into the "strengths and problems" of Monterey County--particularly the Monterey Peninsula. The investigation will start at the Monterey Peninsula College today (Thursday). The course offered for the investigation will be a three-unit, credit/no credit course, Political Science 650, and MPC Dean of Education Keith Merrill said it will be instructed by Anita A. Pohlhammer, who initiated it in fall of 1970, at the request of the Junior League.

The course is open to "all interested persons," the institute will meet Thursdays, 7-10 p.m. in room 3-102, through December 9, featuring lectures--some by guest speakers--and also panel discussions.

Tuesday and Saturday Field trips will also be included to historical sites, meetings of city councils and the board of supervisors, court sessions, educational and public service agencies, and agricultural and industrial sites. Included will be a one-hour boat trip on Monterey Bay and a visit to the Peninsula airport tower. All field trips will be open to family members and students.

Registration will be conducted at the first class meeting. Tuition fee of $13 will be charged students 21 or over, as well as a $5 college center use fee. Persons already enrolled at MPC, however, will be admitted free.

White Cane Days Are Announced

Over four and one half million dollars are estimated to have been raised for sight serving purposes by Lions Clubs of the California-Nevada District in twenty years, declared Larry Stockwell, White Cane Chairman of the Seaside Lions Club as he announced October first and second as 1971 Lions White Cane Days.

"While the first Lions Cane Day raised $500, all Clubs which reported their receipts in 1970 totaled a whopping $358,000 in 1970," Stockwell said. "All of this is pledged to be used on the Sight Serving projects of the participating clubs. Nothing is reserved for salaries and all material costs are underwritten by each Club."

A very outstanding phase of the Lions Club Service has been in the realm of eye screening and vision testing. This is a project of nearly 100 Lions Clubs in the two state area. Some clubs pursue this on a cooperative basis with school boards in testing school children, while other clubs aim their testing at adults. Of these, some Clubs support Lion-sponsored eye foundations, either in association with hospitals or with volunteer medical teams or they stage a glaucoma and eye test in their community.

There are at least two versions of a mobile eye testing unit being operated by Lions. One uses a bus that has been remodeled to serve as a lab with doctors and nurses supplemented by volunteer lay workers of the Club using the group. The other is a well equipped trailer that is borrowed by a Club for a day of eye testing. Local medical and nursing staffs are assisted by lay volunteers.

The records of the former group indicate that out of 31,000 screenings, 5 percent were glaucoma suspects, 5.3 percent showed cataract changes, 1.2 percent indicated retinal pathology and 8 percent had refractive errors. Nearly 20 percent of those tested needed prompt eye care and were referred to a doctor of their choice.

Another use of White Cane Days Funds, exclusively reserved for sight serving, has been the support of Lion Eye Centers. Some of these are dedicated to eye testing, some related to eye departments of hospitals and some designed to enlist donors for corneal transplants and to follow through in time of need.

Many Lions Clubs throughout the district use their White Cane Day receipts to help support special schools and clubs devoted to the education and social adjustment of blind youth and adults.

Homes for adult blind are assisted by Lions Club White Cane days throughout the state. These provide the extra care needed by the sightless at low prices.

Lions White Cane Days makes these things possible because it is recommended to the more than 800 Clubs in the California-Nevada District as a cost free means of inviting neighbors to share in the Lion Sight-Serving work. There is no home office, no paid advertising men or fund drive specialists and the small cost of materials is usually paid by the Club, leaving 100 percent of donations to be used for eye care.

Stockwell said that the local Lions have used their White Cane moneys for glasses, eye exams and eye surgery.

Pick Your Pumpkin

The Great Young Life pumpkin Sale will begin October 16 at Merrill Farms off Reservation Road on the Salinas-Monterey Highway.

This pumpkin sale is somewhat unique, in that the buyer will be able to pick his pumpkin from the patch. One dollar will be charged for any pumpkin on the field.

A door to door presale will begin October 11 and will entitle any purchaser to go to the patch when it opens and pick the pumpkin of their choice.

Last year's pumpkin sale netted approximately $1,000 and was used to send high school students to weekend and summer camps.

Rabid Fox Found Here

A rabid fox was discovered last week on the San Carlos ranch before being shot and killed. The fox was reported to be acting tame and threatening by the Monterey County Health Department.

The fox was the first known case of rabies in Monterey County since December, 1969, when a rabid skunk was captured on the Old's Ranch in Chualar Canyon.

The Health Department has often warned the public about rabies in wild animals. Skunks, bats and foxes are the animals most likely to be infected.

Anyone who finds one of these animals acting tame, crippled, or sick, should be extremely cautious. These creatures, according to Dr. D.L. Caswell, Public Health Veterinarian, are strictly nocturnal, and when seen in the daytime should be considered dangerous.

Children, particularly, should be carefully instructed that tame-acting wild animals are to be left alone.

Supports New Bill

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky has announced, after compromise coastline protection legislation he was supporting was killed in a Senate Committee, that he is now prepared to support AB 1471, the last remaining coastline protection bill.

Grunsky was a co-author of the unsuccessful SB 1555, introduced by Senator Alfred E. Alquist of Santa Clara County. "I desperately want a bill this session that will protect our vanishing coastline," Grunsky said. "Although I favor the concept in the defeated SB 1555, I have consistently stated that if my proposals were unsuccessful, I would support any other reasonable bill providing coastline control."

Senators Grunsky and Alquist were supporting the concept that coastline legislation contain provisions that planning for the coastal zone take place at the regional level, with local permit proceedings subject to regional review. They also wanted an equitable number of the members of the regional and state commissions being selected from both elected public officials and the general public.

"I have asked others to set aside their preferences in order to attain some form of reasonable coastline protection legislation this year. Having failed to have my proposals accepted and recognizing the urgent priority of protecting the coastline, I will now work for the passage of AB 1471," Grunsky said.

"As a gesture of good faith, I am asking Assemblyman Alan Seier, author of AB 1471, to add my name as a co-author of his bill," Grunsky concluded.

InverHouse Scotch distillers will now join such prestigious company as L&M, the Olympia Brewery and Castrol Oils who sponsor Laguna's Continental 500 event, the June Sprints and the Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series race.

PTA Week Planned

National PTA Week, October 4-10, will be observed by more than 40,000 local PTA's across the nation.

With a total membership of close to 10 million, the National PTA is the world's largest volunteer organization devoted solely to the welfare of children.

Over the past 75 years, PTA has become synonymous with just about everything that's American. Its influence has been felt from city councils in small towns to the halls of Congress in Washington, D.C. PTA has even left its mark on the other side of the world in Japan, where parent-teacher associations have been patterned after the structure of the National PTA.

Like most large organizations, the National PTA has had its share of problems. It has been the target of extremist groups who dubbed it "communist," has been attacked from within and without and has been called everything from "do-nothing" to "meddling" by its critics. But it has survived and it continues to grow.

In the words of Mrs. John M. Mallory, president of the national organization, "PTA has survived because in the PTA were people taking action. PTA members turn anxiety into action and aspiration into achievement. They find joy and satisfaction in working for the public interest. And there is no more important public interest than the children and youth of our nation."

During its long history, the PTA has urged its local units to adopt a philosophy of personal involvement. The national organization has designed programs and projects of major importance for use at the state and local PTA levels.

Such programs include the National PTA's "Judicial Concern for Children in Trouble." Through a mutual effort of the National PTA and the National Juvenile Court Foundation, a nationwide plan has been designed to use volunteers in the juvenile courts. The program would develop ways to train volunteers, working with the courts and supplementing the work of its staff members, with a goal of providing more individual attention for each child in trouble. The volunteer might provide tutoring or remedial training or might simply lend a helping hand in a one-to-one relationship. Communities where this program has been tried, report not only individual successes, but an improvement in communication between juvenile courts and the public.

As a result of the National PTA's Smoking and Health Project, more than eight million brochures have been distributed to children in an effort to make theirs a "smokeless generation."

The National PTA also has in the world. Everything is taken care of for them. They never worry about where their next meal is coming from. They KNOW that they are going to get fed. Even in the most poverty-stricken areas, if there is anything at all to eat, the children are fed first.

Where, then, do we develop this fear that we are not liked? Since that fear is not born in us and it is not apparent when we are small children, then it has to be planted in our minds by an outside party, such as society, in general, and our close family and associates, specifically. When the time comes in our lives that we have to "compete" with other children or even with grown-ups for attention and favors, we begin to lose the self-confidence that we had as a child. Now, I am not saying that competition is bad per se. It is good for the development of certain urges and drives that we possess naturally. But, to be forced to compete and to be chided and punished for not winning is another thing. Society tells us that if we are not a winner we are no-good. That is just not true. It is impossible for everyone to be a winner.

This sad fact came back to me last Saturday as I looked upon my daughter, Carol, in her wedding gown. She was just blooming with health and beauty as she went on to her next great adventure in life, marriage. She was just beautiful. Carol is a girl with a good figure, a good personality and more than her share of good looks. Yet, as a child and teenager, she thought that she was just horrible looking and a most dreadful person. No matter how much anyone told her how beautiful she was, she wouldn't believe it. I would say that even now that she has a wonderful husband and that they can look forward to a beautiful life together, she still doesn't really like herself. Why is this? I guess that every philosopher and sage since time immemorial has been trying to give us the answer to that question. They have told us to "Love thy neighbor as thyself," to "forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us" and to "love, not only like, ourselves."

It is so simple to say what all of the great saviors of humanity have said for thousands of years, but to put it into practice that love we possess for ourselves and for our brother is another thing. Every day we can only try. Kahlil Gibran, in "The Prophet," gives some excellent advice.

"Love gives naught but itself and takes naught but from itself.

Love possesses not nor would it be possessed; For love is sufficient unto love.

When you give love you should not say, 'God is in my heart,' but rather, 'I am in the heart of God.'

And think not you can direct the course of love, for love, if it finds you worthy, directs your course.

Love has no other desire, but to fulfill itself. But if you love and must needs have desires, let these be your desires:

To melt and to be like a running brook that sings its melodies to the night.

To know the pain of too much tenderness.

To be wounded by your own understanding of love and to bleed willingly and joyfully.

To wake at dawn with a winged heart and give thanks for another day of loving;

To rest at the noon hour and meditate love's ecstasy;

To return home at eventide with gratitude; and then to sleep with prayer for the beloved in your heart and a song of praise upon your lips."

Included in all of that is 'Love thyself.'

Units Close For Winter

"Facilities at Hearst Memorial State Beach are normally sufficient to handle the reduced winter season load," William Penn Mott, Jr., Director of Parks and Recreation, said. "This allows us to concentrate our manpower and effort where it can provide the most efficient public service."

The two units being closed will open again on March 24, 1972.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

Patriotism as a word is probably one of the most misused and abused words in America today. By dictionary definition it means "the spirit or action of a patriot; devotion to one's country," and patriot means, "a person who loves his country, zealously supporting and defending it and its interests."

There have been millions of patriots. There are millions of them walking around today—in the United States, France, Russia, China, Brazil and a hundred or more other countries—and all of them very serious about it. But we are concerned just with those in America, and patriots in America range all the way from those who are willing to risk their lives for their country to those who pretend to be patriotic but use the pretense for selfish interests. And in between are so many examples it would be senseless to touch on more than two or three.

Most of the young men who fought against the Italians and the Japanese and the Germans in World War II were patriots. Most of them went willingly because they believed it was a job that had to be done, and they were patriots because of their attitude, not just because they were killed or wounded or got a medal for being there.

Many of the young men who went to Vietnam were patriots if they went there believing it was a job that had to be done, "defending America and its interests." Many others who went there were not patriots, if they went there and fought and either died or escaped alive from a war they knew was senseless and not in the best interests of the United States. But they went, faced with the alternative of disgrace and going to a penitentiary, and they became patriots by going, and those who sent them became patriots for sending them.

Well over fifty percent of the people in the United States are not patriotic. Without the support of the majority of the citizens and the voters in America the war in Vietnam could never have been sold to us. Five successive Presidents and a whole menagerie of Senators and Representatives, powerful though they may have been, could not have done this without the tacit approval of the voters of the United States. Voter disapproval could have forced an abrupt end to the war at any time. A Congressman like our own incumbent, for example, would not have dared to consistently vote funds to continue the war if it had meant loss of his job.

It must be said that not everyone was aware of the facts. Certainly Harry Truman knew it was not in our best interests to support the French against the Vietnamese. Eisenhower should have known deceit was un-American. John Kennedy's attempt to save face after the Bay of Pigs debacle was the real starter in Vietnam on a large scale, and nobody dreamed when Lyndon Johnson was selected as a Vice-Presidential candidate that he was a lying egomaniac.

But the facts were available to anyone concerned enough to seek them out, and it is my position that a voter who pretends to be a patriot owes it to the future of his country to acquaint himself with the facts rather than "let George do it" or brag to his neighbors that he couldn't care less about political matters.

Your Social Security

My son is unable to find a job this summer so I am letting him work in my service station. He is 16 years old. Do I pay social security tax on his earnings? I am paying him $1.65 per hour.

Your son is not covered by social security and no social security tax should be deducted from his earnings. I am assuming you are the sole owner of the business. If you have a partnership and the other partner is not related to your son, then his earnings are covered under social security since he is working for the partnership and not for you. The general rule is that a son or daughter under the age of 21 working for a mother or father are not covered by social security.

I have received a statement of earnings from your main office in Baltimore, Maryland. They have no earnings for me for 1969 and I was self-employed during that year earning over $3000. Should I try to correct this now and if so, how can I - or should I wait three years until I am 62 and will file for my social security?

By all means contact the social security office as soon as possible and take with you a copy of your Federal tax return for 1969. We should correct your earnings now so that when you do retire, your record will be in order. This would prevent delay in getting the first payment to you which is so important when people do retire.

For the last several years I have a heart condition but I have been able to continue working. In about six months I will be 65 and would like to sign up for Medicare. Will Medicare cover and ailment such as mine even though I had it several years before signing up?

Medicare will cover any present ailment you may have as well as those you might incur in the future. You can sign up for both parts of Medicare and this should be done about three months before you reach age 65. Call or visit your nearest social security office to do this.

I am a waitress on the Monterey Peninsula. My boss tells me I must keep a record of my tips and pay the social security tax to him at the end of every month. Is this true?

Yes, if your tips in a month amount to $20 or more from any one employer you must pay the social security tax. Because your employer will send in the report of the tips, they will be added to your social security protection in the event of your retirement, disability or death.

I want to apply for disability benefits under social security, but am not able to sit in your waiting room for more than a brief period. When is the best time to come to your office?

You can now apply for social security by phone. Call the social security office - telephone number 373-3351 - and we can do much of your application over the phone.

Letters To The Editor

(Editors Note: The following letter appeared in the Sacramento Bee. This is being reprinted in the interest of Justice.)

Dear Editor:

In your reportage of the Jenner incident of Sept. 5 the Bee made it sound like we motorcyclists were coming to make war with the citizens of Jenner. We were coming there to party to have a good time on a deserted beach.

The next thing we know some of our people have been shot and the people from town were running around with guns looking for us.

We saw citizens with high powered rifles looking at us from every house. The citizens had no right to be out there pointing guns at us. They were waiting in ambush for us. It doesn't say in the Bee that the officers had to take their guns away from them, the officers were more scared of the citizens than the bikers.

Jerry Holden president of the "Rogues motorcycle club" was shot in the head with a shot gun. Bar owner Jerry Berg was shot in the leg and groin and was taken to hospital first, while our friend lay there for an hour and a half in a pool of his own blood. He dam near bleed to death.

We want it known that these are organized clubs, not a gang, furthermore, we are not in any way connected with the "Hell's Angels" nor were they involved in this incident in any way.

David May, Misfits Motorcycle Club, Sacramento.

Questions&Answers

Q -- I purchased a home under the BI Bill, and have now been notified that the property is going to be condemned to make way for a federal highway. Can I have my loan eligibility restored to purchase another home?

A -- Yes. The VA may restore the amount of a veteran's entitlement previously used for any loan on a home which has been taken by condemnation or otherwise by the United States, any state, or any local government agency for public use. However before there can be any restoration of entitlement, the GI loan on the property must have been paid in full, or the VA must otherwise been relieved of liability under the guaranty.

Q -- I have rather large dividend accumulation on deposit with the VA insurance service. May I withdraw it?

A -- Yes. You may withdraw all or any part, of the accumulated dividends.

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with BETTY MANN

Hi there, fellow Peninsulans, Happiness around the Peninsula was generated by the 14th Annual Monterey Jazz Festival.

Opening the Friday night concert was Louis Bellson (Pearly Mae Bailey's husband) and his band. Included in their exciting performance was "Basil," "I Remember Bird," and "Monterey '71 Dance Suite" among many others. Bellson was followed by the stimulating maestro of jazz -- Dave Brubeck, who looked very much like a viking with his white hair and reddish face. Brubeck captivated the audience with his piano and ensemble sound style for which he is famous. Accompanying the Brubeck quartet was Jerry Mulligan, who played the MJF many years ago. That earlier appearance left the audience awaiting the inevitable return of this magnificent man with a horn.

Carmen McCrae was also on the opening concert. "The Impeccable Lady of Song" again hypnotized the boozed-up audience with her exciting renditions of songs that throbbed with real-life happiness and tragedy. As is usual, Carmen really turned the audience on.

On Saturday, I felt as if I was back in my old home state of Kansas. If I closed my eyes I could swear that I was back sitting on a table in the Orchid Room in "dear old K.C." the mecca of the midwest. (Smiles!) Big Joe Turner, noted blues shouter of another era, made the crowd turn on and get down "funky" with him as he shouted his true feelings in his lyrics wrapped with blues. Big Joe was followed by Mary Lou Williams, an accomplished pianist who gained fame way back in 1929 with the Andy Kirk orchestra. She began by playing favorites of the "old days." The crowd did not seem to dig this too much, but as she slowly whipped into progressive and modern jazz, the crowd went wild. She received two standing ovations and two encores.

The next artist was Al Hibbler, who "warbled" a few smooth-type tunes of yesteryear which the crowd appreciated. The most exciting person at Saturday's Kansas City Revisited set was the impressive impressario of the viola, Claude Williams. This "together" looking and acting gentleman played "funky" music on his violin that sounded like Mozart and Chopin with a soul arrangement. WOW!!

Big Jay McShann also recreated some of the feeling of the K.C. era with his piano renditions.

On Saturday night's program, Erroll Garner, the pixish pianist, whose unique swinging style and elliptical keyboard introductions have made him a jazz giant, soothed the wine-swilling, pot-smoking crowd into further tranquility. (I'm not saying that everyone drank booze or smoked pot, only about 80 percent did.) John Handy followed Garner and did a set with Ali Akbar Khan ensemble that was too far out to suit my fancy. Jimmy Witherspoon followed with his usual "black soul" thing. This was followed by the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Band, who contributed to the liveliness of the evening.

John Lewis, leader of the Modern Jazz Quartet, was also on hand Saturday night. He did a number of solos throughout the evening. He was here alone because he cut short his vacation with the rest of the group. He flew into Los Angeles from southern France to write two musical scores for an upcoming Rod Serling television series and to attend the MJF, which he serves as musical director.

Sunday afternoon's concert was quite nice. It featured an outstanding performance that was billed as "Jazz, Today and Tomorrow," which featured the Ygnacio Valley High School Jazz Band, which was the winner of a statewide contest sponsored by MJF during the summer. A second band -- an all star 20 piece group picked from the competition -- charmed the audience with its girl saxophone players, who really did their own thing.

Wilson Riles, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was introduced to the audience and gave a charming speech, which was warmly received by the audience. Dr. and Mrs. Riles were guests of Mrs. Charlie Knight. Reliable sources in the audience overheard Dr. Riles wondering why there were no black youngsters performing on stage, since everyone knows there are many highly-talented young black jazz groups in the state. Perhaps the general manager of the festival should take note and try to correct this "boo-boo" next year.

The Sunday night show featured a tribute to "Jazz at the Philharmonic." It had an old-time jam session format, which featured the artists who played with JATP. The star of the evening was "Sassy Sarah" Vaughn, who captivated the audience. In fact she thrilled one young man so much that he jumped up on the stage and embraced her. He was led away by a policeman, but the ever-gracious Sarah warned the officer not to harm a hair on the young man's head. (Smile!)

This year's festival made the papers not only because of the music. The media took notice of the lovely usherettes and well-mannered ushers who were so efficient. Usherettes from Seaside included Frederica Evans, Betty Sapp, DeeDee Smith, Vera Davis, Maurya Mann, Barbara Tucker, Sandi Scott, Mary Ellen Harris, Kitty Mosely, Roberta Blackburn, Helen Tollerfson, Dessie Ellis and myself. It was my fifth year serving the MJF.

This year, the non-profit festival gave $2500 to the Monterey Symphony Association, $1500 for music scholarships to the Lycerum of Monterey (which is an organization that provides high school education program for high ability students) and $6000 to the first annual California High School Jazz Band Competition. Until later, Jazzy Betty

WHERE PEOPLE MEET - There were many notable spectators at recent Monterey Jazz Festival. Among those on hand were Wilson Riles (left), State Superintendent of Public Instruction and West Gale, who played preacher in his movie "Sweet Sweetback." See Betty Mann column for more on Festival.

Reservists Are Sought

Naval Research Reserve Company 12-8 in Monterey is launching a drive to recruit naval officers with a technical background, according to its new commanding officer, Commander Allen E. Fuhs, a professor of aeronautics at the Naval Postgraduate School.

The reserve company is sponsored by the Office of Naval Research. Its mission is to keep its members current on academic, research and operational activities of the Navy by offering a program of lectures on technical subjects such as the 100-knot Navy, oceanography, computer technology, advance weapons systems and ecology. Members also participate in several field trips to military and industrial facilities.

The company meets on the last three Wednesdays of each month in Room 136, Spanagel Hall at the Naval Postgraduate School. The program permits accumulation of retirement credits and allows eligible members the opportunity to attend research seminars on a variety of subjects.

Those interested are asked to contact the Naval Reserve Training Center, Monterey, California, at 372-0528.

Park May Become Wilderness Area

By M. E. Rolph

Hearings will be held in September in Yosemite Valley and at Mammoth Lakes on a proposal to turn 624,000 acres into designated wilderness area.

According to draft statements released by the United States National Park Service, the environmental impact has, as its purpose "to conserve the scenery and the natural and historic objects and the wildlife therein and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations."

National Park officials state that a wilderness designation by Congress will "constitute a commitment of resources in this same direction that will be irreversible and irrevocable" except by another act of Congress.

Conservationists have the ball moving in this direction and, like a snowball, it is growing bigger and moving faster every day.

Yosemite was established as a National Park in 1890 and today accommodates 250,000 visitors annually. For the most part these tourists visit Yosemite Valley, Tuolumne Meadows, Glacier Point, Wawona and the Big Trees areas.

Park service officials have selected five different units within Yosemite for designation as wilderness. They include most of the Tuolumne River drainage north of the Tioga Pass Road and the Merced River drainage to the south. In all, 81 percent of the park would have restricted access due to the change.

Development of wilderness areas is in sharp contrast to the National Park Service's handling of visitors on the valley floor.

Traffic has become so heavy in summer months that parts of the valley floor are restricted to prohibit use of automobiles. Thousands of daily visitors are denied entrance to the park because there are no hotel rooms or campsites available.

In addition to natural wonders like El Capitan, Yosemite Falls, Half Dome, Nevada, Vernal and Bridalveil Falls, the park features 750 miles of hiking trails, and there are more than 200 lakes and 550 miles of streams.

The biggest fear of those opposed to the park's wilderness concept is the reduction of recreation areas for California's increasing population.

Auto Club Finds Fault With Nader

The California State Automobile Association has criticized Ralph Nader for issuing a report on the American Automobile Association before receiving answers to the questionnaire he sent to AAA clubs throughout the country.

"We are disturbed," said Neal Garrison, executive vice president of the CSAA, "that while we are in the process of preparing answers to his questionnaire relating to our association, and before such answers have been sent, Nader has already publicly voiced his premature conclusions and criticisms of the AAA."

Learn About G.I. Bill

A wealth of information on veterans benefits under the G.I. Bill is available at any Veterans Administration office or veterans' service organization. E.W. Christensen, Director of VA's Northern California Regional Office, announced recently.

While most returning servicemen and veterans receive these pamphlets, frequently they fail to take the time to read them and they become lost or discarded, Christensen said. New copies are available by writing the local VA office.

Tickets for concert are available at Thunderbird Bookstore in Carmel Valley, Lily Walker Records and Music in Pacific Grove, Abinante Music Store in Monterey and Fred Klepich Art Supplies in Carmel.

New Program To Find Vets Jobs Begins

A program to contact employers throughout northern California urging them to hire and give on-the-job training to veterans was announced recently in San Francisco by a State spokesman.

The spokesman, Bob Souza, northern California Veterans Employment Representative for the Department of Human Resources Development (HRD), said the new program is a cooperative step by HRD and the U.S. Veterans Administration.

"While unemployment among young veterans seems to be easing somewhat," Souza said, "the problem for this group is still greater than that for comparable civilian groups and we feel this new outreach project will have favorable impact."

Under the just-launched program, 10 V.A. training specialists have been put into the field, Souza said.

He said the VA specialists will first comb HRD records of veteran applications at local offices, then contact employers, in those areas, stressing on-the-job training contracts and urging preferential hiring of veterans, as well.

Training contracts will be paid for directly through the G.I. Bill and administered by the V.A. Regular jobs turned up will be handled and filled by HRD, Souza said.

This is in addition to HRD's own on-going employer contact program, only recently stepped up itself, Souza added. Souza said that in northern California alone, HRD's 53 offices handling employment either have one or more veterans employment specialists or give priority attention to veterans through regular staff personnel.

Besides that, he said, another 23 veteran specialists were hired in May to concentrate on finding or developing jobs in San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno, Hayward, Sacramento, Eureka, Stockton and San Jose.

And just last month, Souza added, HRD Director Alan Nelson announced the allocation of 17 new temporary positions for Veterans Aides, also searching out job opening and training positions in northern California.

"The emphasis now is on Vietnam-era veterans," Souza said. "We have about 2,750,000 veterans in California working or looking for work--and nearly 453,000 of them are young veterans. Of course we have a commitment to all veterans and we're honoring that commitment. But the urgent need is to help those under 30, including a higher per-

Black Architect Gets Commission

In an important first for a black architect, Marion C. Thomas, A.L.A., has been commissioned to design an $8.5 million office-commercial complex in Rosslyn, Virginia, a suburb of Washington, D.C.

The complex, Rosslyn Metro Plaza, will be located at the proposed site of the first Virginia station in Washington's new subway system now under construction.

Capital Investors of Miami is sponsoring the project. A 34-year-old native of Houston, Thomas is a graduate of Howard University's School of Architecture.

From his office in Silver Spring, Maryland, he has specialized in designing low- and moderate-income FHA housing in various parts of the country.

Thomas has worked with church and other community groups in an advisory capacity to plan urban renewal projects.

charges that the guidelines do not contain adequate civil rights safeguards to insure against racial and other forms of discrimination.

Many complaints have been heard about the way in which the funds are being allocated. The chief complaints have come from large cities, who are upset over having to share job allocations with the states, and from smaller municipalities which must negotiate for funds at the state level rather than directly with the federal government.

The emergency employment legislation represents the first general public service employment provided by the federal government since the Works Progress Administration during the depression in the 1930's.

It was instigated by Congressional Democrats and urban interests and accepted by the Nixon Administration last spring as unemployment continued to rise.

Previously, President Nixon had vetoed similar legislation.

Other complaints concern the fact that California was allocated $100 million and that New York, almost as large, received only $46 million.

The breakdown was computed on the basis of increments that Congress had provided for states with the highest unemployment.

Another criticism is based on the fact that the Labor Department has done nothing about disbursing $250 million earmarked for areas of hard-core unemployment within cities and counties because unemployment statistics for such areas are not yet available and it is having to proceed slowly in order to be fair.

"There may be some happy about this program out there," said one official in Washington, "but I don't know who they are."

The big idea behind Majic Jack's "Candid Mind Circus" is fun. "Fun is number one," says Jack Marcle, director of the Mind Circus -- a 16 millimeter color-sound movie being produced with the cooperation of Isis Films, San Francisco College's film department, Sausalito Warehouse Films, the San Francisco Neighborhood Arts Program and many others interested in this on-going film-theater repertory company.

"The players play themselves," says Marcle, "and those playing 'audience' eavesdrop on a rehearsal of truth."

San Francisco bay region scenes filmed thus far include Basin Street West for a nightclub film benefit, the home of astrologer Gavin Arthur for a rooftop reading of the stars, the Sausalito waterfront for a houseboat wake, Mount Tamalpais "for auditions to play God," the Arts and Industry World Premiere for a San Francisco Civic Center underground survey, the Family Pharmacy for intermission instant theater, the Morningstar Ranch for a visit with Lou Gottlieb, and the Olompali Ranch in Novato for a look at the demise of a commune.

"Candid Mind Circus" is an on-going film-theater repertory company which Marcle says is operating as a "prophetic non-profit public service." It welcomes donations of funds, equipment and services. Any interested individuals or organizations may contact Marcle in care of Art and Fireworks Company, 2180 Bryant Street, San Francisco CA 94110.
